General Information

The month of November falls at the start of winter in North India and the weather is normally pleasant requiring light woollen wear especially during nights.

The past glory of education and erudition of Varanasi is being kept alive by Banaras Hindu University founded by Mahamana Pt. Madan Mohan Malaviya in 1916. Soon after the establishment of the university department of Ayurveda was opened, which enhanced to the status of the College in 1927. Years later, in 1969 the Ayurvedic College was converted to the College of Medical Sciences with Professor K.N. Uduppa as its founder principal and finally reached to a landmark by the foundation of the Institute of Medical Sciences in 1971. The Institute of Medical Sciences constitutes three faculties, i.e., Faculty of Modern Medicine, Faculty of Dental Sciences, and Faculty of Ayurveda, and a School of Nursing. The three functions of the IMS are to impart quality education in undergraduate, postgraduate and super specialty medical and paramedical courses, to be a trend-setter in medical research and to offer patient care of high order.

Varanasi, with its ancient name Kashi and Banaras, is one of the oldest living cities in the world and is located on the left bank of holy river Ganga. By railway route it is well connected from New Delhi (764km), Kolkata (677km) and Mumbai (1476km); also it is connected by roads and air services from different parts of India. The current population of Varanasi Urban Agglomeration is 1.45 million (2011 census), spread over an area of 119.50 sq. km. Besides being a cultural and religious centre of India, it remained from the ancient times a great seat of learning.

Dear colleagues,

Banaras Hindu University is celebrating the 150th birth anniversary of our founder Pt Madan Mohan Malviya. To commemorate this event we are organizing the 46th National Conference of Indian College of Allergy, Asthma & Applied Immunology at the Institute of Medical Sciences, Banaras Hindu University, Varanasi, during 2-4th November 2012.

You are aware that Allergy, Asthma & Applied Immunology are assuming critical problems in diagnostic and clinical medicine. Significant developments have been made in understanding the basic aspects of disorders caused through allergy and asthma, and the numbers of offending agents are considered responsible in the pathogenesis of different disorders especially in India and South Asia.

Allergic rhinitis and bronchial asthma are important health problems because of their prevalence and their impact on the patients' social life, school performance, and work productivity. Allergic rhinitis represents a global health problem affecting 10% to 20% of the population. In fact, allergic rhinitis accounts for more than 50% of all cases of diseases caused by allergy, asthma and environmental pollutions. Therefore, it is felt as very instrumental at that time to establish the College were Prof. D.N. Shivpuri (Pulmonologist) and Prof. A.S. Paintal (Physiologist). For detail see, www.icaai.co.in

The Indian College of Allergy Asthma & Applied Immunology (ICAAI): The College was established in 1967 with its headquarter at the Vallabhbhai Patel Chest Institute, University of Delhi, Delhi (India). Some of the founder members who were instrumental at that time to establish the College were Prof. D.N. Shirohi (Allergologist), Prof. R.K. Sanjay (Pharmacologist), Prof. R. Vishwanath (Pathologist) and Prof. A.S. Painial (Physiologist). For detail see; www.icaai.co.in

Sub-themes of the Conference

1. Global epidemiology of Allergy and Asthma.
2. Recent Advances in Diagnosis and Management of Allergy and Bronchial Asthma.
3. Chronic Obstructive Pulmonary Diseases.
4. Impact of Environmental Pollution on Chest Diseases.
5. History of Allergy and Asthma.
6. Holistic medicine and Environmental Health.
7. Medical & Healing Tourism and Health Management.
8. Recent advancements in immunology of Allergy and Asthma.
9. Recent diagnostic systems in allergy diseases.
10. Genomics of Allergy and Asthma.
11. Nature therapy and Ayurveda in treating Allergy and Asthma.
12. Workshop on live Bronchoscopy
